gateway to the great books are great writings which selections include short stories plays essays scientific papers speeches and letters each selection represents a primary original and fundamental contribution to ones understanding of the universe and themselves there are over 135 authors 225 selections and 95 original illustrations selections include works from ernest hemingway f scott fitzgerald t s eliot mark twain and more this set will help introduce oneself to good literature and the great books of the western world a popular novelist and literary blogger answers those who claim the classics are too difficult too problematic and too white and explains what we gain by reading them when she was in her early twenties then aspiring writer naomi kanakia set out to read the great books humankind s most highly regarded literary classics representing the best that human beings have thought or said as determined by the two elderly intellectuals who d written the guidebook she consulted after twenty years she has made her way through about two thirds of these books and she s found reading them to be an immensely pleasurable and insightful activity plato milton tolstoy proust all those dead guys their books have stood the test of time but since beginning her journey Kanakia has found that although reading the great books is part of a longstanding tradition of engaging with the thought of previous generations it is also a highly contingent activity that arose out of a specific time and place the brainchild of a small group of early twentieth century popularizers associated with Columbia University and the University of Chicago and people have always been skeptical about the idea of reading the great books asking if this is truly a realistic or even desirable goal for the ordinary person a more recent and growing group of great books skeptics asks if these works are too problematic reactionary and irrelevant to bother reading Kanakia a self-described left of center person grapples with these objections attempting to restore context for the great books even as she sticks up for them because books that expose us to fundamental truths about the nature of beauty and reality are worth fighting for examines the form of the novel capaciously defined and across its history exploring the interplay of conformity and experimentation in classic and outlier examples of the genre with a focus on Joseph Conrad Henry James and Virginia Woolf despite its rough and tumble image Chicago has long been identified as a city where books take center stage in fact a volume by a J. Liebling gave the second city its nickname Upton Sinclair's The Jungle arose from the midwestern capital's most infamous industry the great Chicago fire led to the founding of the Chicago Public Library the city has fostered writers such as Nelson Algren Saul Bellow and Gwendolyn Brooks Chicago's literary magazines The Little Review and Poetry introduced the world to Eliot Hemingway Joyce and Pound the city's robust commercial printing industry supported a flourishing culture of the book with this beautifully produced collection Chicago's rich literary tradition finally gets its due Chicago by the Book profiles 101 landmark publications about Chicago from the past 170 years that have helped define the city and its image each title carefully selected by the Caxton Club a venerable Chicago bibliophilic organization is the focus of an illustrated essay by a leading scholar writer or bibliophile arranged chronologically to show the history of both the city and its books the essays can be read in order from Mrs. John H. Kinzie's 1844 narrative of the massacre of Chicago to Sara Paretsky's 2015 crime novel Brush Back or one can dip in and out savoring reflections on the arts sports crime race relations urban planning politics and even Mrs. O'Leary's legendary cow the selections do not shy from the underside of the city recognizing that its grit and graft have as much a place in the written imagination as soaring odes and boosterism as Neil Harris observes in his introduction even when Chicagoans celebrate their hearth and home they do so while acknowledging deep-seated flaws at the same time this collection heartily reminds us all of what makes Chicago as Norman Mailer called it the great American city with essays from among others Ira Berkow Thomas Dyja Ann Durkin Keating Alex Kotlowitz Toni Preckwinkle Frank Rich Don Share Carl Smith Regina Taylor Garry Wills and William Julius Wilson and featuring works by Saul Bellow Gwendolyn Brooks Sandra Cisneros Clarence Darrow Erik Larson David Mamet Studs Terkel Ida B.
